WEEKLY BAZOO.

SEDALIA, MO.

TUESDAY, JUNE 14, 1901.

A Painful Accident.

While Mr. R. D. DeBolt, who resides on the corner of Tenth and Kentucky streets, was engaged in driving down some stakes in his yard when an axe yesterday morning, he caught the axe on a wire clothes line, which made him lose his balance, and in so doing it struck Mr. DeBolt on the nose, making it a frightful manner and nearly severing it from his face. The wounded man was taken to the hospital, where he is now recovering.

To-morrow Night at the Park.

The Bazaar acknowledges the receipt of an invitation to the "Fete Champetre," to be given at the park to-morrow evening, under the auspices of the Missouri Commercial Travelers' association. This will probably be one of the most successful affairs ever held in Sedalia, and will give every promise of furnishing a evening of great enjoyment. The various committees have been laboring faithfully to bring everything up to a point of perfection, and they have succeeded in their efforts.

Try one of those Havana filled cigars at Holman & Hardwick's.

An Undesirable Pupil.

The latest dog story comes from Cole Camp. Last Friday a dog, supposed to be mad, entered a school room, ostensibly for the purpose of getting a drink of water from the water trough. The dog was taken to the principal's office, where it was kept for some time, and then it was taken to the pound.

Police Court.

Services opened in the recorder's chapel yesterday morning with a prayer from Rev. Edward Craig—charged with being intoxicated in a public place. He pleaded guilty to being "about one-half shot," and was fined $5.

Parson Jacob Groaten pleaded guilty to the charge of being drunk and disturbing the peace and quietude of the neighborhood, and was fined $5.

Deacon Fied pleaded guilty to being drunk and disturbing the peace and quietude of the neighborhood, and was fined $5.

Edwin W. Strand, colored, pleaded guilty to the charge of intoxication. He said that he was a stranger in the city, and was looking for a place to stay. He was fined $5.

Married Yesterday Afternoon.

At three o'clock yesterday afternoon Mr. James A. Gould was united in marriage with Miss Josephine A. Carter, the ceremony being performed at the residence of the bride, on Fifth street, by Rev. A. H. Heinlein, of the Ohio street Methodist church.

Mr. Gould is employed as train dispatcher for the Missouri Pacific at this point, and for a number of years past has enjoyed the most implicit confidence of the company's officials. He is a young man, of about 30 years of age, of high order, and is a very capable and reliable man. He is a native of Ohio, and has been in Sedalia for some time.

Of the bride, it is a pleasure to speak. She has long resided in Sedalia, and is a very capable and reliable woman. She is a native of Ohio, and has been in Sedalia for some time.

At the wedding, the bride was attended by her mother, and the groom by his father. The ceremony was a very simple one, and was attended by a large number of friends.

A Thieving Bootblack.

Bill Toley is a colored bootblack, and one of the most worthless of the many of which this city has heard. Yesterday he was seen in the company of a man named John Roland, from near Ottumwa, Iowa, to indulge in the luxury of a shave, saying he would finish the job for him. He then showed a rock at him, but after placing the bootblack upon one boot, he refused to proceed further until twenty-five cents was forthcoming. This, too, was refused, and then he demanded an additional twenty-five cents before putting on a polish, and when Roland refused to be bled to that extent, a row ensued, whereupon Toley, about to show a rock at Roland, he was prevented by Officer Connor, who took him in charge and locked him up. It is to be hoped an example will be made of him to-morrow in the police court.

Reported Killed.

Word was received in Sedalia yesterday that E. J. Boyd, a former well-known fireman who ran on the Pacific road, and made his home in this city, was shot and killed at some point in Colorado a few days since.

"It is said that the murderer was 'Jake' Brown, at one time a passenger on the Pacific, the main line of the Missouri Pacific, who also resided in Sedalia.

Both men were employed upon a branch of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe road, and the train in which they were riding was en route to the west. It is known, but full particulars are expected by a gentleman of this city by to-morrow's mail.

A Terrific Rain Storm.

Mr. J. W. Snoddy, a resident of Lecombe, was in the city yesterday, having just returned from Clay Center, Kansas. He reported that on Friday morning at about 10 o'clock, a terrific rain and wind storm visited that town, and three or four frame houses were raised to the ground, and fences were scattered to the four corners of the globe. No lives were lost.

While proceeding to this city, on the Kansas Pacific road, a heavy rain, hail and wind storm overtook the train at a point about forty-five miles west of Topeka, blowing the engine to come to a halt. Mr. Snoddy says he never before witnessed such a large body of water, it seemed to come down in sheets. The train was stopped for some thirty minutes, when the storm abated somewhat and it proceeded on its way.

"Fete Champetre."

The various committees in charge of the "Fete Champetre," to be given by the Missouri Commercial Travelers' association at the park to-morrow evening, have completed their plans for the entertainment of guests. The program of the evening will be as follows:

Promenade concert, 8 to 9 p.m. Dress suit or evening dress. Carriage to the park, 9 to 9.30. Concert, 9.30 to 10. Dancing, 10 to 12 o'clock.

Ample arrangements have been made for the proper transfer of guests to and from the park. Carriages will run from the city to the park, commencing at 1.30. Carriage calls will be made by leaving orders at Sichert's hotel office. A large crowd is anticipated.

How Col. Phillips was Left.

Col. Phillips and his daughter, Miss Hortense, took passage on the west-bound Pacific train yesterday morning at St. Louis for Sedalia. They had proceeded as far as Franklin, where the St. Louis and San Francisco road branches off, when Col. P. received a telegram from his daughter, Miss Hortense, who was in St. Louis, desired to converse with him. The Colonel left his daughter, promising to return shortly, and stepped back into the coach where Miss Horton was seated. He was enjoying a pleasant chat, and did not notice that his coach was being switched off on the San Francisco line, and was not until the Missouri Pacific train had pulled out of Sedalia did he discover that he had been left behind. He telegraphed her a warning, explaining the situation, and will arrive home by this morning's train.

An Elegant Traveler's Parlor.

Billie Wells, the well-known and popular young theatrical artist, has, after not a little labor, placed his second street establishment in such a shape that it now ranks among the prettiest in the state. The walls have been redecorated and set off with handsome pictures, the whole presenting a scene of beauty. It is now conceded to be the coolest and comeliest shop in Sedalia, and the Bazaar is pleased to know that the efforts of the affable young proprietor to please are appreciated by the public and that he is doing a lucrative business.

Billie Wells, who is a native of St. Louis, has been in Sedalia for some time, and has been very successful in his business. He is a very capable and reliable man, and is a native of Ohio, and has been in Sedalia for some time.

CLIFFORD! THE PEOPLE'S FAVORITE!

Steps Down and Out, While BITTINGER, The Unknown, Steps in and Up.

Having disposed of my stock of Groceries to MR. BITTINGER, I cheerfully and heartily commend him to my friends and customers in need of good Groceries at Living Prices.—CLIFFORD.

In referring to the above, we desire to say that the Grocery business so successfully inaugurated by Mr. Clifford, upon the CASH system, will be continued on the same basis, and trust we may prove a worthy successor to the "PEOPLE'S FAVORITE," and if close attention to business square dealing, courteous treatment and RED ROCK PRICES shall have judicious consideration in the minds of the people of Sedalia and surrounding country, then may we reasonably anticipate a share of the public patronage, and the above inducements prove an "open sesame" to their pocket-books, and the become even more "FAMOUS" in the future than it has in the past. By strictly for CASH, we shall give to our patrons the benefit that cash in hand at all times commands for goods in the wholesale market, and save them the fifteen to twenty per cent. invariably added by dealers in a general credit business, to CASH and FIRST-CLASS CREDIT CUSTOMERS, to pay for inevitable losses sustained by such merchants in the course of a year's business conducted on a credit system.

Our doors are open to a rich and poor, and while we do not profess to have come to Sedalia entirely for our health, or as a philanthropist, we respectfully invite the consuming public to an inspection of our goods and prices and we will leave them to determine if we are honest and sincere in our declaration, and that it DOES pay to buy for CASH.

SEDALIA'S CENSUS

As Taken by Assessor Maddux. Foots Up Over 18,000.

On learning that City Assessor Maddux had completed his work of taking the city's census, a BAZOO reporter called upon him yesterday for the purpose of learning something in regard to the population of the Queen City of the Prairie. He was found at his residence busily engaged at work on his books, but when the editor entered and made known his mission he so kindly consented to furnish him all the information within his power.

"Sedalia is still growing," said Mr. Maddux, as he commenced looking over his books to find some of the figures called for by the reporter, "and it is now one of the best towns of the west."

"What do you think the census would have been?" asked the reporter.

Mr. M.—I have been to every house within the corporate limits except a couple of hundred, and have taken the census complete, with those two exceptions.

R.—What do you find the population to be, as far as you have gone?

Mr. M.—Twelve thousand and seven hundred. These figures do not include a single person, except those who are really residents and reside inside of the corporate limits, and if anybody doubts it I can show them the every person lives, by referring to my books.

R.—If you had counted those who reside in the suburbs outside of the corporation, what do you think the census would have been?

Mr. M.—Over 15,000. In fact, I am sure there are more than 2,000 people who ought to be counted as residents of Sedalia, who are out of the city of living outside of the corporation. The corporation should be extended so as to count all of those as residents who reside within five hundred yards of the city limits.

R.—You think, then, that if the corporation was extended five hundred yards on each side of the present corporate limits that it would take in enough residents to swell the population to 15,000, do you?

Mr. M.—I do.

R.—What is the relation of the real and personal property as assessed by you?

Mr. M.—I cannot tell you, but I can assure you that it will make a good showing for Sedalia.

Mr. Maddux then showed the reporter his books, and they were found to be in very fine condition, showing that Mr. M. thoroughly understood his business, and had performed the work with great care. He can turn to his books and give the same figures and conclusions of every citizen who is counted in the census.

The Same Old Round.

"Could I see the editor?" she asked, looking around for him and wondering what was going on under his table.

"Oh! yes, I'm him," responded the editor, evolving himself and slipping a cork into his pocket. "What can I do for you?"

"I am a student at Packer Institute," responded the blushing damsel, "and I have written a little article on 'Our School Days,' which I would like to have published in the Brooklyn Eagle, if you think it good enough."

"Certainly," replied the editor, gazing in unconscious admiration upon the beautiful face before him. "Does it commence 'Our school days' with the words 'I remember'?"

"Why, yes," responded the blushing girl. "Then it goes on, 'How we look forward from them to the time when we shall look back to them!'"

"How did you know?"

"Never mind," said the editor, with the engaging smile which has endeared him to the citizens of Brooklyn.

"After that she says, 'I so gilded with the pleasures that youth happy, they have flown into the immemorial past and come to us in after life only as echoes in the caves of sweet recollection.' Isn't that it?"

"It certainly is," answered the astonished girl, radiant with delight. "How could you know what I had written?"

"Then it changes from the pianissimo and becomes more tender: 'The shadowy past, around our path. The roses of childhood are withering, but may we not hope that they will bloom again as we remember the affection that bound us here and made?'"

"No, you're wrong there," and the soft eyes looked disappointed.

"Is it 'Hope on, hope over?'" asked the editor.

"That comes in further on. You had it nearly right. It is 'The dawn shadows close around us. The flowers of friendship are sleeping, but not withered, and will bloom again in the affectionate remembrance of the chains that bound us here and made?'"

"Strange that I should have made of that mistake," said the editor musingly. "I never missed on one before. From there it goes, 'School-days, let us live so that all our days shall be as radiant as those we have known here, and may we pluck happiness from every bush, forgetting never that the thorns are below the roses, and pitying those whose hands are bruised in the march through life.'"

"That's it!" exclaimed the delighted girl. "And then comes 'Hope on, hope over.'"

"Surely you're born," cried the editor, blushing with pleasure, and once more on the right track. "Then it runs: 'And so for you, teachers dear!'"

"Yes, yes, you're right," giggled the girl. "I can't see how you found me out! Would you like to print it?" and her face assumed an anxious shade.

"Certainly," responded the editor. "I'll say it by the most promising young lady in Brooklyn, the daughter of an esteemed citizen and a lady who has already taken a high social rank!"

"That finishes the school commencement at one swoop," sighed the editor gloomily, as the fair vision faded out. "Can't see how I made the blunder about the shadows and roses or friendship of those girls have struck out on something original. Here, Greeting, tell the folks to get to the printer, and the next day, also supplement, and the editor felt in his hair for the cork, and wondered what had happened to his memory.—Brooklyn Eagle.
